PRICE TWO CENTS

Freshman... ...Follies

by ann n' sorryl

Wanted: one mad biologist, bacteriologist, or any old person who could teach me how to use a microscope. Honestly, last week in zoology lab, I spent two hours straining my eyes peering through a tiny hole. Alas the results were nil. All I saw was a milky haze and an occasional long wavy bit of material which turned out to be a strand of my crowning glory. The need is urgent. Apply to the psychiatric ward of the Neurological Institute...

The speaker pauses majestically in his dissertation, raises one eyebrow quizzically and glances expectantly around the room. It's evident a joke has been delicately and far to subtly cracked before this all too morose crowd of somnambulists. A polite titter arises from the middle of the girl's section, the laughter is contagious, and rippling, soon sweeps the large room. The orator smiles condescendingly, pityingly, so tenderly, that it is almost a paternal smile, and continues. Why try so hard to spring a witicism on such an uncomprehending herd? He gestures eloquently, speaks earnestly from the depth of his soul, never has he been more serious or concerned about the fate of Milton's third wife, when they laugh—with one spontaneous accord they laugh—at Milton's third wife.

Oh Dando! little can you imagine how sharp voice is today...

If you suddenly find yourself violently swept off your feet, gathered up in a strong clutch, and rolled along the campus, do not fear. This is merely one of the snow sweepers, and who are you to complain about the forces of this new machine age? Besides, we hear that they don't make you write your exams with two broken arms!

Have I got troubles! It's bad enough composing my share of the column but when my other half has to write the remainder, in braille, things are becoming a little too oppressive. The reason Sorryl is to be seen stumbling blindly about the campus with an ugly cur (which incidentally, she swears is a seeing eye dog) is simply this. The cornea of her fair black orbs has suddenly developed a rosy, blood-shot hue, while the lids are swollen and droopy. O, Sorryl, you're so young! Next time I'll have to come with you Saturday nights...

You see them in the physics, biology, or chemistry buildings. They wander around, oblivious to everyone with an absorbed light in their eyes. Their clothes might have been excavated from the tomb of King Tut. They wear gray-white overcoats, decorated with blood-red spots, and curious gaping holes. Their arms are covered with acid burns, bits of adhesive tape brighten up their faces. Really, some of them are awful messes. Who are they? The mad McGill scientists traipsing about in their tattered lab coats...

Did anything hilariously funny happen to you today? No? You spend all your time in Labs? Well, ah—did anything moderately amusing happen in the lab? Oh, well, didn't anything slightly rib tickling come your way? Nothing ever

CUP WIRES

TORONTO: Paul Hindemith, the world famous composer, is to speak at the Toronto Conservatory of Music on "The craft of musical composition." He is also to conduct the Toronto Symphony Orchestra in his best known works.

Sixty students at Ajax College staged a sit down strike in protest of the "slow bus service" between Toronto and the twenty-six mile run to Ajax College. This strike was the result of the withdrawal of the tractor-trailer type of vehicle which had been operating on this line up till this time. Company officials say "desperate equipment conditions have forced us to use underpowered tractors with uncomfortable trailers."

STUDENT COUNCIL MOVES TO AMEND 'DAILY' POLICIES

Hear Report on Question of Japanese-Canadian Deportation

At its regular weekly meeting last night the Students' Executive Council held a joint meeting with the Managing Board and full editors of The Daily, heard reports on the progress of Council action in connection with the Japanese-Canadian question and dealt with a long list of new business that lengthened the duration of the meeting which commenced at 5 p.m. up to press time when The Council was still in session.

At a two hour meeting with the Managing Board and full editors of The Daily, future policy of the campus newspaper was discussed and council members and editors exchanged views on the conduct, control and administration of The Daily. A number of recommendations for the amendment of the constitution of The Daily were made by the council, which, following approval by a general staff meeting will come into effect.

Among the recommendations which were approved by the Council were that editorial writers in The Daily be initiated by the author, that greater care be taken to ensure printing of essential and official notices which must appear on a certain day, that The Daily take greater care in covering undergraduate society news.

JAPANESE-CANADIANS
The Council's committee on the Japanese-Canadian question made its final report at last night's meeting. The petitions which were prepared for student signature, protesting the deportation of more than 10,000 Canadians of Japanese origin have been received by the Secretary Treasurer of The Council, and although some of the lists have been "disappointing" in the number of students who were willing to sign them, the committee reported that the lists will be forwarded to government authorities today.

Other Business
Merelle Cayford (Pres. Women's Union) discussed the question of Women's Union fees, and a further report would be forthcoming, she said.
The Council further approved the constitutions of the Labor Progressive Party Club, one of the political clubs set up to act in co-operation with the Mock Parliament and as an outlet for student political opinion. The constitution of the Red and White Society was also approved. The McGill Radio Association...

Dr. Brine Gives Talk on Women

Columbia Psychologist Enumerates Problems Facing Fairer Sex

By GOLDIE WOLOFSKY
"In our society, it is an established fact that the unmarried woman is expected to go out and earn her own living, and not remain dependent on her unwilling father or brother," stated Dr. Alice Brine in a talk at Moyse Hall yesterday evening, the third in the series "Women in the Post-War World." Dr. Brine, who addressed the capacity audience on the topic "The Dilemma of the Professional Woman," received her M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at Columbia University, where she is at present a professor of psychology.

"Men are wont to resent the intrusion of women in many of the professional fields," the speaker stated. "They propose to send women back to the home. What home?" Dr. Brine went on to quote several figures obtained in census reports showing the gradual increase in the ratio of women over men in the population, and estimated that there ought to be about a million women in the United States who must of necessity be self-supporting. Without husbands, and without jobs, how are these women to make homes for themselves? A short discussion period followed the lecture, in which several interesting questions were capably answered by Dr. Brine.

Former Chaplain Is Now SCM Secretary

Captain Arthur S. C. Ritchie, formerly a chaplain in the armed services, has recently been appointed Student Christian Movement Secretary at Dawson College. Taking up his post at Dawson early this month, Captain Ritchie is at present residing at the college.
A graduate of Arts and Theology at McGill, where he became connected with the Student Christian Movement as well as the Graduate Movement, he was president of the McGill Operatic and Choral Society from 1932-33, and president of the Students Society at the United Theological College from 1933-34. While overseas he served in England, Italy and France.

Film Society Presents Four Films To Be Shown on Jan. 24 at 8.30

Shorts 'Ski Revels', 'Chico', 'Dare Devils On Ice', Are Titles In Varied Film Fare For Moyse Hall Showing

Four short films will be shown by the Film Society in Moyse Hall on Thursday January 24 at 8.30 p.m. Their titles are "Ski Revels", "Dare Devils on Ice", "Adventures of Chico", and "Life in the Western Marshes". The program will last one and a half hours and has been arranged so that graduates as McGill students may attend.

The Film Society executive pointed out that this presentation will not take the place of the regular Tuesday afternoon showings, and that this is the first of four evening programs.

"Ski Revels", is a show featuring masters of this fast growing sport who have been described as human avalanches. There are shots of champions in ski jumps that challenge the imagination, and there are others of cross country skiing amid scenes of amazing beauty.

"Dare Devils on Ice" is the latest sports film released by the Associated Screen News, and will have its premiere at this Film Society showing. There is plenty of action and some excellent shots of winter sports.
"Adventures of Chico" is described as being an all time favourite at McGill. It is the story of a small Mexican boy, Chico as told by himself. The life of a Mexican family is shown. It is also a presentation of the lives and habits of the wild animals of Mexico, and this is very beautifully and naturally done.

"Chico" was listed as an outstanding film in the American Film catalogue 1945.
"Life in the Western Marshes" is a coloured film on the preservation of bird life.

Debating Schedule Opens Tonight With Dress Topic

Commerce, Arts Meet In Arts Building; Future Debates Set

The first of a series of inter-faculty debates scheduled for January and February will take place tonight at 5.00 p.m., in the Arts Building, Room 21. The opening topic "Resolved that bare midriffs should be accepted in modern dress" will be upheld on the affirmative side by the Commerce faculty and on the negative by Arts.

Commerce will then meet RVC on January 31, the former again championing the affirmative for "Resolved that the dress at McGill is too formal."

On February 7, Arts vs. Engineering will debate, "Resolved that universities should grant athletic scholarships."

On February 14, Arts for the affirmative and RVC for the negative, argue on "Resolved that St. Valentine's Day should be observed."

Engineering and RVC will then hold an exhibition debate on February 21.

New Executive Set at Banquet of Scarlet Key

W. Reid President; Ince, Ross, Ballon Hold Other Posts

The annual banquet of the Scarlet Key Society was held on Monday, Jan. 21, with Jack Pye, the retiring president, in the chair.

A new executive was chosen. William J. Reid was elected president, Geoffrey Ince, vice-president, Alec Ross, secretary, and Edward Ballon, treasurer.

Those present were Major Forbes, Athletics Manager, Mr. Matthews, Registrar, and incoming and outgoing members.

The president issued the following announcement: "If all those retiring members of the Key who earned Awards this year wish to substitute a Scarlet Key Pin instead of the sweater, they can pick up vouchers for same at Mr. Fletcher's office in the Union."

"Will all students who have Scarlet Key sweaters which do not belong to them please turn over in immediately to the Athletics offices. They are urgently needed if the Key is to carry out its duties adequately during the coming year. Please co-operate."

UBC Provides Housing Facilities For Married Student Veterans

Vancouver, Jan. 23—(CUP)—Accommodation for eight veterans and their families have been provided through the conversion of a number of army huts at Acadia Camp. These housing facilities have been made possible through the efforts of the University of British Columbia Canadian Legion Housing Committee, and Lieutenant Colonel G. M. Shrum.

All of the families occupying the suites have small children, and each of the buildings are divided into three room apartments.

The Housing Committee has also set a goal of obtaining one hundred prefabricated houses, which are to be reserved for the exclusive use of married student veterans. These would be located near the campus, so that students would not have to face the transportation problem. The houses are to be prefabricated and portable, composed of four rooms. Each house would take one day to erect, with the rent set at twenty dollars a month.

The University of British Columbia is the only Canadian University assuming the responsibility of providing room and board for the student veterans who are attending universities. This is done at the Acadia Camp and Fort Camp through the reconstruction of former services buildings.

The Student Council of the university plans to float a hundred and fifty thousand dollar loan, which it would use to extend the Brock Hall Student Building, the main residence on the campus. Construction will probably start on this new project late next year. It is to be connected to the present Hall by a closed runway, which is also to form a closed courtyard. The new residence is to include a cabaret

Six Local Vet Groups Plan New Society

Loyola, McGill And MacDonald Are Represented

Student Veterans representatives of six local colleges and universities met on Tuesday night to consider immediate concrete action to implement the decisions of the First National Conference of Student Veterans. Meeting in the Currie gymnasium, the student ex-servicemen have set up a "Committee of Montreal and District Student Veterans Societies."

University Veterans' societies represented on this committee are the University of Montreal, Loyola College, Sir George Williams College, MacDonald College, Commercial College of Rehabilitation and McGill University. Other Vocational training schools and trade schools will be approached with a view to joining the committee.

Main job of the Committee will be to contact all local members of Parliament, with a view to making them acquainted with the views and the demands of the National Conference of Student Veterans, as embodied in a brief which was recently presented to W. A. Tucker, chairman of the House of Commons Committee on Veterans' Affairs. Local members of Parliament will be presented with a copy of this brief, and an attempt will be made to arrange for a meeting with student veteran representatives.

Other city-wide organizations, such as the Canadian Legion, rehabilitation committees, Kiwanis, trade unions, Knights of Columbus, Rotary Clubs, will be circulated with copies of the brief, and solicited for support. A special panel of student veteran speakers will be available who will be able to address meetings of these organizations at their request. The speakers, who were elected at the meeting and who are from all the local colleges participating in the committee will be available to speak on

Speaks Today

GUY DESAULNIERS

Leader of Party To Give Address

Campus Political Club Is To Sponsor Talk By Provincial Head

Mr. Guy Merrill-Desaulniers, elected Provincial Leader of the CCF at the recent Convention of the CCF, will speak on "The CCF and Labor" at an open meeting in the Union Grill Room, today, at 5 p.m.

Mr. Desaulniers, is the legal representative of a number of Quebec Trade Unions. In this capacity he recently freed a worker accused by the Montreal Tramways Co. He is a specialist in the field of labor laws and collective bargaining agreements.

Mr. Desaulniers aided in launching the CCF in the electoral field in Quebec and has acted as French-speaking spokesman for the CCF on the CBC.

Immediately after his election to his present post, Mr. Desaulniers was made Honorary President of the Student CCF Club at McGill. Following the main address on "The CCF and Labor", there will be a question and discussion period.

'Vets Do' Sponsored By Veterans' Society

On Friday, January 25, from 3 to 8 p.m., the McGill Student Veterans' Society is sponsoring a "Vets Do" in the Officers' Mess of the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium.

The party will be either "stag or drag." Married veterans may bring their wives. Due to the fact that the ex-servicemen greatly outnumber the ex-servicewomen, a spokesman for the Veterans' Society requests women veterans to refrain from bringing escorts. The admission will be 25c.

Music for dancing will be provided by a juke box, and liquid refreshments will be available.

This party is the second in a series of social affairs planned by the Student Veterans' Society.

MOCK PARLIAMENT WILL RECONVENE ON JANUARY 30th

Prog-Cons. to Form Government L.P.P. Are Opposition

Legislation to set up a Federal Labor Code and National Labor Relations Board will be presented by the Progressive Conservative Party at the next session of the Mock Parliament.

The principle of Union Security with collective bargaining forms the basis for the bill, which also provides for the abolition of sub-standard wages and amelioration of poor working conditions. Annual holidays with pay and a maximum working week of 48 hours are also included in the bill.

The National Labor Relations Board, with representatives of Labor, employers and the public at large, will be set up to certify bargaining agencies and to conciliate in labor disputes.

The Progressive Conservatives will be in power, at this session of the Mock Parliament, which will be held in the Union Ballroom at 8 o'clock next Wednesday, 30th of January. The Prime Minister will be William Archer, who will announce the names of the other Cabinet Ministers later this week.

LABOR PROGRESSIVE OPPOSITION

The Labor Progressive Party will be His Majesty's Loyal Opposition for the evening. The Liberal and C.C.F. parties, which held the main positions in the last Parliament, will also be sitting on the opposition benches.

Each of the opposing parties is expected to move an amendment to the main bill. These will be published in the Daily on Monday, in order to give all students a chance to study the proposals.

ALL STUDENTS MEMBERS

Every student at McGill is a member of the Mock Parliament and entitled to attend, to speak, if they wish, and to vote on the proposed legislation. The meeting is not restricted to those who are members of campus political clubs.

Professor R. Tuck, who was the Speaker at the first session last December will also preside over the House on this occasion. The Governor-General will not be present at this session and the House will open with a Question Period and then proceed to the Orders of the Day.

SECOND IN SERIES

This is the second in a series of Mock Parliaments being held at McGill during this academic year, under the sponsorship of the Debating Society. The planning for each session is done by the Steering Committee, under the chairmanship of Morris Berbrier, and composed of representatives of the four political parties. The purpose of the series is to provide an opportunity for university students to learn about parliamentary government, as it is carried out at Ottawa.

WORLD EVENTS

London: The Soviet Union and France have vetoed the Anglo-American choice of Canada's Ambassador Lester B. Pearson for Secretary-General of UNO, both preferring to see a European for the post.

New York: The threat of a nationwide railroad tieup hung over the United States today as the White House announced that the government would take over and operate the strike-bound meat-packers plants.

Paris: Felix Gouin, 61, Socialist chief of the Constituent Assembly was elected last night to succeed General de Gaulle as President of the provisional government of France.

Belfast: Canada's first aircraft carrier, 18,000-ton Warrior, will be commissioned and taken over by the Royal Canadian Navy tomorrow.

Winnipeg: Plans for a continuous flow of export grain to the war-starved people of Europe call for the aid of prairie farmers who have been asked to increase deliveries to country elevators.

Ottawa: Possibility of the end of general troop repatriation by the first week in March—six weeks ahead of schedule—was seen here tonight in official circles.

Time and Tide

Cool, Calm and Collected

Never trust your friends when it comes to taking down notes, listening to the Professor, or getting the homework straight. We did. When we were told by our friends that the term paper was to be a "Biography" of any author on the reading list, we took it in good faith, and immediately rushed to the Library to find a textbook on Literature. "A textbook", we thought, "will have biographies". Quite right. But to get a textbook, that was the problem.

We wrote down the call numbers of all the 25 textbooks on Literature and set out resolutely into the stacks. Every last one of them had disappeared. At once we realized what had happened: It was a plot by certain ill wishers, who had got there ahead of us, and who planned to stop us from writing the paper, and to make us fail the Year.

Undaunted we held a conference with ourselves and set out to find the "Who's Who" that might include the author we had chosen. There was one slight difficulty. We did not know when the author had died or if he was still living. After an hour with the English, American, International, French and German Who's Who's it seemed as though the author had never lived at all. At least, They did not know anything about him.

We were getting desperate. From the top floor we had run to the bottom floor and then to the top floor again, out to consult the index, and down to the bottom floor. We tore our hair but that did not help, so we tried the RVC Library. Again, no mention of the man in the English and French dictionaries, nor in the American book on Authors.

At long last, believe it or not, we managed to get a textbook on Literature. At last! He was in the Index! With feverish fingers we tore the leaves and reached the magic page. And there, the fruit of our search: three lines, three lines saying he was a brilliant young author (which we had known all along). Not a word as to where he was born, what books he had written, if he was living or dead.

We were on our way to the Montreal Public Library when we met another person from the class. "Did you get a textbook on Literature?" we asked. "A textbook, what for?" "For the Biography, of course." "What biography?"

Patiently we explained that our term paper was to be a biography. "Oh, no, you understood wrongly. That is not what the Professor said." "Well, I wasn't at the lecture. That is what I heard." "No, no. We are supposed to write on whatever we want. But the Professor said to add a Bibliography at the end of the paper."

Thus, cool, calm and collected once more, we broke the friendship.

Sunrise in Convoy

By P. A. Tallman

It was cold, very cold and unreal when the watch shook their reliefs, and slowly, with extreme lethargy and not a few oaths, we dressed for the winter at sea. . . .

Once out of the stuffy warmth of the cabin a tremendous feeling of loneliness spread over me, and ascending to the bridge was expression of fatigue and wondering. . . . Mute we greeted the first watch, and they vanished quietly. . . .

The first two hours were a death of silence punctuated only with occasional routine. It was cold and black and silent in spite of the wind or the ceaseless toll of the engines. . . . Everyone thought much of home or of some stray love in an attempt to escape from the inevitable quietude. . . .

And then the blackness greyed, and we all felt very close and thankful for one another. . . . The bosom's mate appeared miraculously with a huge pot of boiling coffee which everyone drank greedily. . . . Now was the time for waiting, anticipation of morning. . . .

Conversations broke out from all corners. . . . The assid operator heard the fish barking and was reminded that his wife was having a baby, her first, and that his name would be Joseph Henry. . . . the signalman recounted his familiar tale of love and life with his latest delight. . . . Excitedly we vied with each other in crude incident and anecdote, each attempting to drown the other in insult and jest. . . .

The starboard look-out saw the cross-tree of a mast. . . . Interest at once was focussed on our convoy. . . . Of course we knew they were there, huddled together like sheep on the radar scan. . . . But we must see. . . .

The sky was flannelled by now and out of the mist, wraith-like, thrust the prow of the first of our ships. . . . Then two. . . . three. . . . six. . . . all of them. . . . We knew that, but with insatiable hunger we counted and recounted until all doubt had left our minds. . . . The Commodore blinked good ing only is fitting which has particular appeal to students.

Planning an $850,000 expansion of their present gym, to include indoor grandstands seating 5,000 for their basketball courts, and an artificial hockey rink, also seating 5,000, not to mention numerous smaller facilities, McGill (registration over 6,000), with only a third of their alumni canvassed, have already collected two thirds of this objective. By signing over their C.O.T.C. pay during the war years, and by campaigning for subscriptions among themselves, the students alone have realized almost $40,000. For their proposed new half million dollar war memorial gym, the Students' Council of the University of British Columbia (registration over 7,000) intend to float a bond issue this spring to the value of $150,000, expecting their alumni to donate the remainder. The University of Alberta (registration over 2,500) is employing similar means.

The question which naturally interests us is, of course, what is to be done at Dalhousie. We need not pretend we must have a new men's residence or swimming pool to demonstrate our respect and appreciation for those who gave their lives to save our necks—yet another bronze plaque in the lobby of the library might not be out of place. And aside from the memorial aspect, it is despairing to observe other universities in the Dominion, and even in the Maritimes, undertake ambitious expansion programs, whereas Dalhousie, now when the country is at the peak of a period of economic prosperity, must wage a struggle just to hold on to what she possesses.

Jasha Heifetz in Recital

Jasha Heifetz, well-known violinist, who will appear at Plateau Auditorium, Saturday, Feb. 2. The Program will include, Partita, E. Major, (violin alone), Bach; Concerto in A Minor, Glazounoff; Sonata, Howard Ferguson; and a group of compositions by Debussy, Poulenc, Rachmaninoff, Rossini, Tedesco.

Jasha Heifetz sums up his life in the following words: "Born in Russia, first (music) lessons at three, debut in Russia at seven, debut in America in 1917." Yet if we wanted to fill in all the details of his life, we would have several books.

Mr. Heifetz made four world tours before the war, and now plays annual tours of Canada and America. During the war he played many concerts for men in the armed forces, in camps and hospitals, and made three overseas trips.

His one motion picture, "They Shall Have Music", was voted by educators, as "The greatest single contribution to the general appreciation of good music thus far made by the screen."

Student Composers and Musicians

By KEITH TISSHAW

This year's edition of the Red and White Revue is gradually taking shape. The latest group to be organized is the Dance Orchestra, composed of twenty pieces, which is to supply all the music for the Revue.

The orchestra promises to be one of the highlights of the show, with arrangements by that well known CBC conductor, Allan McIvor, and Archie Etienne, a student in first year law. In the actual Revue the orchestra will be conducted by Roy Dohn, also a student, and as far as possible the musicians will be made up of students, augmented by the local musicians union.

Rehearsals started last Thursday in the Conservatorium, which has been put at the disposal of the Music Director through the courtesy of Dean Douglas Clarke. Everything ran fairly smoothly, considering that it was the first time the group had played together, but there was a definite lack of trombones. Anyone interested in playing in the orchestra should see Archie Etienne, as there are still positions open.

All of the music to be used in the show was written by members of the University, and this year's score promises to be the best in many Revues. Original songs and background music have been written by Moira Wedderspoon, Donnie Johnston, Archie Etienne, Roy Dohn, with Ivan Aron supplying lyrics to some composition.

The Music Department of the Revue has provided excellent opportunities for student composers and musicians, and judging by the calibre of the music that has been submitted these opportunities have been exploited to the fullest extent. If student interest shows up as well in other departments, this edition of the Revue should be one of the most colourful Moyses Hall has ever seen.

LETTER FORUM

CHARITIES

The Editor, McGill Daily:

Dear Sir,—Is it true that those members of the Arts, Science, Commerce and Engineering Undergraduate Societies whose names are checked off on lists as desiring tickets to their formal dances at the price of $7.50 are going to be expected to contribute $5 each to the current Charity Campaign rather than the $2 asked from other students?

I consider this highly commendable and wish to congratulate the originator of this plan.

Yours truly,

J. R. D. BAYNE.

MEYER AND ME

The Editor, McGill Daily:

Dear Sir,—With reference to the letter of January 21st signed by the Executive of the McGill Student Veterans Society, it would appear that there is an encroachment upon authority that is entirely outside their sphere.

Whether or no Kurt Meyer should pay the supreme penalty is a matter of opinion, but the opinion of the Student Veterans Body, whether it be for or against, should not be represented by the personal opinion of the above mentioned executive.

It is understood that the individuals of this executive are put there by a majority vote. If this is the case, then it should follow that anything said or written for publication and signed by said executive should be representative of the opinion of the Student Veterans Body as a whole. On any subject, particularly the one under criticism no one objects to a fair personal opinion based on reason and common sense, but it seems apparent, whether intentional or otherwise, that the Veterans' Executive are expressing their own opinion under the guise of the McGill Student Veterans Society. It would be a much wiser procedure to first question the numerous veterans on the campus and then give expression rather than publish the article before accepting a cross-section of opinion of the Student Veterans body.

As regards sending the letter to Ottawa, is it not possible that our executive are getting in over their heads? Any type of student government should be fully representative and personal opinions of this sort should not be publicized unless carried by the majority.

If the powers that be were pleased to put their faith in the decision of Major-General Chris Volkes after Meyer was acquitted of the original charge then we, as citizens should not let our personal animosity sway the scales of justice. Some of us have more reason than enough to hate the Hun—but no doubt the Hun has a few pet hates of his own for us for similar reasons. At any rate, let's keep it clean for justice's sake.

It is almost a shame that a blemish should be cast upon the otherwise very good record of a very good and efficient executive.

Sincerely,

CHUCK MCLEAN.

GEN. MEYER

Editor, McGill Daily.

Sir,—The dispatch that was issued by the court that condemned Gen. Kurt Meyer read as follows:

"He was convicted of inciting his troops to deny quarter to Allied troops, of responsibility for his troops killing seven prisoners of war at his headquarters in the early stages of the Normandy campaign, and of responsibility for his troops killing eleven other prisoners of war at the same place."

Not much later, Canadians were astounded when they heard that the sentence on this murderer of our Canadian soldiers, who also had families, was commuted to life imprisonment. To add to the insult he was to be sent to our country to serve out his sentence. Because of this, many organizations, and especially Veterans' organizations, immediately condemned this latter action. I would like to congratulate the Executive of the Veterans' Society for having joined these organizations in protesting this action. Also, I congratulate them on the decision to bring this before the Veterans' Society for approval. A decision which contradicts those who shout so loudly at such "undemocratic" procedure.

These same people were not so energetic in condemning the decision to deport loyal Jap Canadians, but they act as if they would welcome this German murderer to our land as the best type of immigrant. Also, they were not very vociferous in encouraging the Executive in its recent fight for better housing and increased allowances, etc. . . . It would seem that it is not so much "Canadian Justice" and "Democracy" that these gentlemen are defending, but rather it seems to be an attempt to undermine and destroy an organization that is one of the most active and representative on the Campus.

Again, I congratulate the execulive and call on all veterans to lend them support.

Signed HAROLD GOLDFARB,
Ex-F/O R.C.A.F.

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Sir,—Several letters have appeared in the last few issues of the Daily, by certain veterans approving the commutation of the death sentence of Nazi-S.S. Gen. Kurt Meyer, and condemning the action taken by the Executive of the M.S.V.S. These gentlemen have pitifully omitted some of the facts of the trial. The court martial trying Gen. Meyer, found him guilty with no recommendation for clemency. The chairman of the court martial, Maj. Gen. Foster, acting on the decisions of the court condemned Meyer to death. Some weeks later, Maj. Gen. Chris Vokes, who was not present at the trial, contrary to what "The Disillusioned Vet" asserts, but was miles away from the scene, on receipt of an appeal for clemency from Meyer, commuted the sentence to life imprisonment in Canada.—That Gen. Vokes had the legal authority to do so is not questioned, just as a higher authority could legally free the "Nazi Big-Continued on Page Four

MEET HER AT THE UNION

May Peace Bring Happiness

"The Federation of Catholic Charities in its annual appeal counts upon your generosity and co-operation to assist its twenty-four Agencies and Services.

"In the transition from war to peace, many new problems have arisen concerning principally broken homes and neglected and abandoned children.

"Charity demands that you should do your utmost to succor those helpless and unfortunate fellow citizens.

"In doing so your generosity shall not go unrewarded but shall be the seed of multiple blessings."

JOSEPH CHARBONNEAU,
Archbishop of Montreal.

Music for All

On a quiet evening, spent at home, when one turns on the radio or listens to the gramophone and hears some of the great music of the world—some stirring and exciting, some soothing and calm, one realizes how great a gift music is for humanity. So much has been expressed in music, that to listen to it completely over-powers us occasionally. The stress and strain of every-day life has been miraculously transformed into beauty. Instruments have been found, some gay, like the violin, some melancholic, like the clarinette, and men have written their very lives into the sounds of an orchestra or a single instrument. Although there are many national characteristics in music, yet basically it conveys the same great inspiration to man.

It seems a pity that McGill students have so little time for music. We have a Faculty of Music, but in spite of many efforts to publicize it, most students know little about it. Moreover, from information gathered it appears that the present building in which our Faculty of Music is housed is rather inadequate. Toronto University has just enlarged its Conservatory to make it one of the largest and best in the British Empire; why should McGill not do the same?

We have never known of anyone, who, having heard some of the world's great music, did not feel inspired by it. Naturally, such an inspiration can only come with the study of music. It would certainly be a great asset to McGill if the Conservatory could be enlarged, to enable those who are studying music professionally to benefit from the advantages of a modern and well-equipped school, and to make possible the introduction of music appreciation classes, through which all students would be able to experience the everlasting inspiration of the world's great music.

On War Memorials

(Reprinted from The Dalhousie Gazette)

Though there may remain some doubt whether or not "peace" has yet commenced, it is generally accepted that the War—when defined as the struggle against Germany, Italy and Japan—is over, and that the time is appropriate for considering what kind of memorial Canadian universities should establish, testifying both to outsiders and to posterity the high regard the alma mater holds for those of her sons now among the ranks of the glorious dead. For monuments several suggestions have already been advanced, ranging all the way from those of a strictly commemorative nature to the variety that also serve as gymnasiums and hockey rinks. Other proposals of a more abstract character include a scholarship fund for children of servicemen and a somewhat idealistic plan for endowing "chairs of peace", where all students might be taught the causes of war and the means of overcoming them.

Since it promises to be not only as tangible and as permanent as a stone monument, but genuinely useful as well, the war memorial gymnasium is enjoying the greatest popularity; although its promoters are frequently accused of exploiting its "memorial" significance to secure a practical addition to the university plant. It is usually a gymnasium because everybody appears to need one, or at least a better one, and as the undertaking in many instances is engineered by students to commemorate their fellow students, it is thought that that type of build-

Seniors Lose, Intermediates Win In Loop Fixtures Last Night

Redmen Drop Close Tilt To Strong YMHA Aggregation; 2nd Team Beats St. Willibrord's by Score of 56-35

Hoyle, Greenberg Star for Losers

By LOU H. WEINGARTEN
3,000 people packed like sardines in a Montreal bus, watched the greatest twin bill yet presented by the M.B.L. this year in the Currie Gym last night. Both games were decided by a few points in their dying moments. Y.M.H.A. Seniors overpowered our own Redmen in the last few minutes of play by a score of 33-29. While in the open-er between Shipmates and South-western Y, the game ended 41-41, but in five overtime minutes of play the Southwestern Y team was able to overcome their strong opposition and win 47-45.

MCGILL LEADS FIRST HALF

McGill was in the first from the very first. Sammy Roth, one of the most improved men on the Red team, and George Davidson put on a spectacle that made the Y supporters blink. Their beautiful passing underneath the Y basket ended in some good pot shots, which after four minutes of play put McGill in the lead by 6-0. It wasn't until the first six minutes had passed that Richman put in the first Y basket, and this seemed to spark the Blue team, however, they were not able to take the lead mostly due to the defensive play of Pete Finaly. The teams showed extremely good balance and each were kept from running away with the play, but towards the end of the first half, when McGill were leading by 16-14, lanky Mart Goodwin took a pivot shot from the bucket and swished the netting, however Dikofsky, Y's steady guard, retaliated, but Greenberg's set shot, cut clean through and the half ended 20-16 for McGill.

SECOND HALF Y.M.H.A. STRONGER

In the second half, the Y.M.H.A. pulled their old boner. They never failed yet to come out stronger in the second half an din four minutes the crowd had gone hysterical, when after repeated misses by Prupas the Blues were unable to tie the score, but finally one of his lay-ups clicked and the score was now 28-27, the first time during the play that the Y had taken the lead. However, close as it may seem the Red team was unable to recover the lead, Joey Richman, recent addition to the North End team but well known around these parts, came through gradually for his team, by potting two baskets a la long shot and the game though closely contested until the end finally put victory in the hands of the Y.M.H.A. to give them top standing in the M.B.L.

The M.B.L. found space for F. M. Van Wagner . . . under the scoring table . . . so what, at least he saw the game. The thermometer in the gym was at 82° F. . . too bad you had to hold that fur coat in your lap, Lady . . . I was busy. Some men before bringing their fairer halves to watch the cage games should teach them something about the game first. Imagine the nerve of Mary, cheering for the Y . . . and at her first basketball game too. . . Next week there'll be plenty more room for the audience the M.B.L. has planned to have a huge plate glass suspended from the ceiling, so that people can lie on their abdomens and watch the game from up above . . . yes, . . . but what are you going to do when that gets crowded, it'll have to be one deep only.

But not according to KEN HOYLE, who played a strong defensive game last night for the Redmen and at the same time racked up six points.

McGill to Tackle American Cagers In Charity Game

Dancing Afterwards In Currie Gym Will Climax Big Evening

The McGill Senior Basketball squad tips off against another American University quintette when they tangle with Middlebury College of Vermont this Saturday night in the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium. This feature game and the dance following will represent basketball's contribution to the McGill Charity Campaign. The admission fee of 75c includes both game and dance.

When Middlebury arrives in town on Saturday they'll be bringing formidable opposition into the McGill camp. Although a comparatively inexperienced team as far as College Basketball is concerned (none of the present roster aided the Middlebury victory over the Redmen two years ago) they boast a tall, heavy team. Following the present trend in Collegiate basketball the Panther starting lineup has four players over the six foot mark.

Heading these is their ex-glitter pilot centre, Russ Dale, who climbs to six foot two. Russ is the only letterman on the team, as he finished the '42 season with Middlebury.

Color for the American boys is supplied by Frank Wurm, who, aside from his basketball record, pitched a few games for the Brooklyn Dodgers last fall, and will head south with them for training this spring. He plays first-string guard for the Panthers.

The McGill men, of course, will be out in strength for their second win over an American squad this year. Considering the tougher competition evident in the City League and a busier playing schedule, Coach Lou Davies feels we should be able to turn the trick.

Interclass Basketball Schedule Announced

In the only game played off in the Interclass Basketball league last night the Commerce 3 & 4 team edged out the Dents by a 23-18 score in what turned out to be a very close game.

The date and time for the game scheduled between Commerce 3 & 4 and Engineering 2A has been changed to Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

Plumbers Down Dents In Interfaculty Game

There were two games scheduled for the McTavish Street rinks yesterday in the Interfaculty and Interclass leagues. In the Interfaculty tilt Engineering defeated Dentistry 6-2, while in the Interclass game Phys. Ed. 1 won by default over Commerce 2.

Davine Nets 12 Points for Team

By LES KALBER
McGill Intermediates assumed undisputed leadership of the Montreal Intermediate Basketball League by virtue of a 56-35 victory over St. Willibrord's Academy last night at the small gym of the Sir Arthur Currie edifice last night.

At no time during the game was there any doubt of the outcome as the Redmen proceeded to penetrate the Academy's zone defence with the aid of a smooth passing system coupled with deadly accuracy on their close-in shots.

DAVINE SCORES 12
The Red raiders were led by flashy "Mickey" Davine, who swished the cordage for 12 points followed closely by Mactavish who garnered 10 and Nichols with eight. The best the losers could do in the scoring columns was nine points by Don Ward followed by McCarthy with six.

Continual hard work and solid coaching finally won out last night as the Redmen finally overcame their nemesis: The zone defence system. Their arch rivals from Dawson use that system and baffled the locals with it on one occasion. However the boys have finally devised a system to penetrate it and it looks as though they are on their way to the championship.

IMPORTANT GAME

Last night's game was very important in that it was a four-point game which boosted the local stock to the top of the pile.

At half time the McGill boys were in front 29-20 and the Academy boys threatened to make matters tough in the home stretch. However the issue was quickly settled as "Mickey" Davine dented the twine for two quickies. From then on in the Redmen coasted to an easy victory.

M.O.C. Mumlblings

By Huba

Well our long missing friend has turned up; we can look at North America's winter playground without the protesting embarrassment of the past few months. This, of course, is our usual weather . . . especially when it isn't.

Trips for all sorts is the keynote this weekend. Those we look to jealously guard the reputation of the MOC as the crossers of continents plan to start skiing at St. Agathe. It is customary on these occasions to avoid saying where they will get to, in order to prevent too much face being lost. For more perishable mortals and those who plan to emphasize Saturday night, there is being arranged an amble along the trail from St. Margarets to St. Saviour, which should get them there in time to do a little real skiing on the hills. These people will be expected to rush over from the hill, or stumble over from Nymarks, catch the 5.00 CN train, leap off this almost as soon as it starts (keep the muscles flexed, please) cram into the MOC house for what they will learn afterwards was supper, then be carried along in the mob onto one of the latter trains. There are trains every hour from five to nine on the CN and other miscellani on the CP line.

I have been asked to say a few kind words about the cooking. Well, its really very good cooking. After all there is not so very much you can do to food. Yes, food is wonderful, if you're interested in things like that. Which reminds me, bring your lunch if you plan to join the folks "crossing country" as they call it. There is none so friendless as he who forgot his lunch.

playing in the nets. Of the Dents, Gallant and Geddes alone were outstanding, and although backed by a fairly strong aggregation, were outclassed by the Plumbers.

This was the second game played in the league so far this season, in the last Arts downed Dentistry by the same score as did the Plumbers 6-2. By these indications it would appear that these two teams will rank among the top outfits in the loop.

To-day in the Interclass there are two games. At 5.00 Science play Commerce, and at 6.00 Med. 2 face Eng. 2.

Boxing Team's Hopes Hit By Loss of Orr

It was learned last night that Manager Milton Orr of the McGill Boxing Team has ended up in hospital for a bout with his appendix. Laid up for three or four days, it was originally believed that Orr simply had a case of intestinal flu, but the worst has happened. One of the best boxers in the entire university, Milt will be sadly missed by the team when it makes its trip to Kingston in the middle of February and in the show it is to put on for the patients of the Montreal Military Hospital on January 31.

A one-forty-seven pounder, Milton has already proved his worth in a boxing show put on at the YMHA earlier in the season when he beat Jack Horne of that club. At the practices recently he has continued to show his usual good form and the team will be badly hit by his loss.

On behalf of all his many friends, the Boxing Club and the Daily staff in particular, we wish you all the best, Milt, and a speedy recovery.

Tengineers Even Up Floor Hockey Loop's Final Play

Defeat Sidus 2 to 1 With Goals by Hadley, Lawton in Close Tilt

The Tengineers evened up the finals of the Dawson Floor Hockey League playoffs last night by nipping the Sidus 2-1. This made the best-of-three series which continues tonight even stephen at one all since the Sidus won last Thursday night 5-3.

The game which was comparatively clean throughout and close-checking resulted in the low score. The Tengineers scored at the five-minute mark of the first period as "Hap" Hadley snaffled the ring in front of the Sidus net and slapped it into the corner. At the opening of the second period the Sidus put on a power play and "Senator" Huggess converted, "Sunny Jim" O'Connor's pass to tie the game up. The game grew a little rougher at this stage and "Hammerhead" Cameron of the Sidus drew a tripping penalty. The Sidus stood off this threat only to see the Tengineers take the lead as "Bumping Buzz" Lawton scored after a rink long rush. "Bulldog" Woodward drew a penalty for holding and shortly after he returned "Hammerhead" Cameron almost scored on a pass from O'Connor. Although the Sidus bottled the Tengineers up in their own end in the dying minutes they were unable to score.

The Tengineers played a much better game than in the finals opener and their passing attack was clicking. The Sidus despite the return of "Dangling" Porteous lacked their usual fire and failed to score when the pressure was on.

Costigan Still Coach Of Intermediate Team

In yesterday's edition of the Daily there was quite a serious mistake when it was stated that Ross Hutchins was to be this year's coach of the McGill Intermediate hockey team. It was learned last night that Johnny Costigan has not been fired and expects to continue in a long and useful career as a hockey coach par excellence.

The Intermediate team is practicing today as usual and it is believed that Costigan will then pick the 12 men who will represent their old Alma Mater this Friday night at Loyola when the McGill boys meet Bishops College in their first game of the season.

The Intermediates have quite an aggregation in Tony Dobell, Doug Eaton, Gordie Franks, J. Frost, S. Kerr, Bob Layton, Bob McBoyle, Don Smith, Tommy Bridel, Wregg, Bill Smythe, Doug Lockhart and Ritchie Ward. Of these men quite a few have seen action either this year or last with the Senior team.

The other teams in the Intermediate Intercollegiate League are unknown factors, although Dawson are sure to ice a powerful aggregation, while Bishops and Loyola have never been pushovers at any time in their history. McGill can be confident that she will have a strong team herself in the aforementioned men, so the league will be hot.

Campbell Leads Redmen This Saturday for No. 2 Over U of M Carabins

Coco Blanchard Worried Coach With Peirson Invasion Looming

McGill's high-riding hockey team, flushed with last week's victory over the University of Montreal Carabins, will roar down the ice of the St. Laurent rink this Saturday afternoon in an effort to make it two in a row over the boys from across the mountain. Team supporters should be on hand for the face-off due at 2:30.

After a disastrous start in League play, in which his team has had 26 goals scored against them in two games, Coach "Coco" Blanchard of Les Carabins is bound to be making some changes these days in the hope of prefabricating an air tight defense around his net. Chances are he has a few tricks up his sleeve for Saturday's game, because it'll be a case of do or die for his fighting icemen.

He can't overlook the fact, though that he'll be seeing "Dynamite" Johnny Peirson invading his beloved home ice wit hour Redmen. And he can't forget that McGill, too, can't afford to loose this one with only six games of intercollegiate play for each entry. It's almost a certainty that when the regular season ends the top team won't have lost a game.

This will be one of the few chances we will have watch our boys in intercollegiate competition this year, as only four games are scheduled with McGill on Montreal ice. If you're planning to see the game, a number 17 car from Snowdon will get you to the St. Laurent rink in about fifteen minutes.

Dawson Hoopsters Go To Ottawa on Friday

Coach Gerry Leonards had his Dawson Intermediate A basketball team out to practice last night, in preparation for its exhibition road trip of two games at Ottawa this weekend. On Friday night, the Dawsonites will meet Glebe in an exhibition tussle, and the following evening, will attempt to reverse an earlier 30-22 decision which the U. of O. boys hung on them Dec. 9. The team has undergone a moderate shakeup, in the past few days, and a new player, Farquin, will be out at Ottawa to try his hand at Intermediate basketball.

The transportation question is still a little doubtful, but this will be cleared up today. Dawson is at present tied out the league with McGill, though the latter has played more games. This deficit in games played will be remedied in the next four weeks, during which time, the Dawsonites have 8 contests lined up. On February 2, the Aggies from St. Annes will visit St. Johns, while the replay on the disputed Dawson Georgians game will take place on the 7th.

Water-polo Team Will Meet K. of C. Tonight

Seeking to continue their present unbeaten streak, the McGill water polo team will take on the K. of C. squad tonight. The game will start at 8 p.m. and will be played at the K. of C. pool. Tomorrow night they play a return game with the Georgians, and on Monday at the Mount Royal pool they will meet the powerful YMHA squad.

The McGill team has lost only one game this year, against YMHA by the score of 3-2. They hope to reverse the decision Monday. They beat the Georgians in their first meeting 9-4 and tied the Knights of Columbus 5-5.

The following players have been chosen for the Intercollegiate squad —Townshend, goal; Mahon and Cooper, centre; Ince, centre half; Wood and Fineberg, wings; Paltiel, Benjamin, Brenhouse and Young on defence.

Squash Tourney Well Off to Speedy Start

The singles squash tournament is well under way. During yesterday's play, Landry defeated Swinton 3-0; LeMesurier defeated Gillespie 3-1 after a good match; Gillespie defeated McDougall 3-0; Mantha defeated Rae 3-2; Murray defeated LeBlanc 3-0. The following won by default: Ramsey; Summerby; Farlinger; Annett.

The following matches will be played off at the times stated. If either player is unable to play at that time, he is to contact his opponent and complete the match by Monday, January 28th or loose by default. Courts are reserved at the times stated.

5.00 P.M. Friday, January 25th: Cram (WE. 4657) vs. Lau (PL. 2073); Gillespie (BE. 2886) vs. Murray (PL. 7412); Farlinger (BE. 2886) vs. Mantha (WE. 4629); Dale (LA. 5265) vs. Burrows (LA. 5265);

VOLLEYBALL NOTICE
Volleyball games scheduled for Friday are as follows—At 5.15 Arts-Science 3 & 4 vs. Commerce 2, Engineering 2 vs. Dents. At 6.00 Engineering 3 & 4 vs. Commerce 3 & 4 and Med. 1 vs. Phys. Ed.

SPORTS NOTICE
Science Hockey—There will be an interfaculty hockey game at 5.15 on the MacTavish street rink tomorrow, Friday, Jan. 25, when Science meets the Artsmen. All science-men wishing to play interfaculty hockey are urged to turn out.

LIBERAL CLUB

Today in the Music Room of the McGill Union at 1 o'clock there will be a general meeting of the Liberal Club. The topic to be discussed will be "Liberals — Right or Left." A paper will be presented by Marcel Joyal on the subject and discussion will follow.

A caucus will be held tomorrow in the Union Board Room concerning the Mock Parliament, at 1 p.m.

PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE CLUB

The attention of all members is drawn to the Progressive Conservative Bill which appears in today's Daily and also to the article on page one.

This legislation, to set up a Federal Labour Code and National Labour Relations Board, is being presented next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Union Ballroom, by the Progressive Conservatives.

All club members and their friends are urged to be present on this occasion.

Those seeking further details about the Mock Parliament are asked to attend a meeting in the Music Room next Tuesday at 1 o'clock. The Prime Minister W. Archer, and also the Minister of Labour, Leonard Beaton, will be present.

L.P.P. CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Executive of the L.P.P. Club on Thursday, January 24th at 8.00 p.m. at 2788 St. Catherine Rd. Business to be considered will include the Mock Parliament, The Club Study Groups, the Housing Campaign, and future Club activities.

Club members are invited to attend.

At the L.P.P. Club Conference held last Saturday in the Union Ball room, the following members were elected to the Executive.

Chairman: William Ornstein.

Secretary: Gilbert Rosenberg.

Treasurer: Freda Wales.

Mem. Sec'y: Anita Shecter.

Social Dir.: Ellen Coakley.

Study Group Dir.: Larry Goodfriend.

HILLEL

A debate between McGill and Queens will be the feature of this Saturday's Oleg Shabbat at the Hillel House, at 5:15 p.m. The topic, "Resolved that the cultural assimilation of the Jews in America is probable," will be upheld on the affirmative by Queens, represented by Marvin Reback and Frank Brodie. On the negative, Bill Hymovitch and Rita Weissler will represent McGill Hillel. Three prominent men of the Jewish community will act as judges, while Issie Rosenfeld will be chairman.

S.C.M.

Sunday evening at 7:30 in Divinity Hall, 3520 University St., a Student Chapel Service will be held. The service will be one of worship and meditation. Following it, a Musical Open House will be held at 3574 University Street. The S.C.M. welcomes all students to both Chapel Service and Open House Sunday night.

POLITICAL ECONOMY CLUB

The first meeting of the New Year of the McGill Political Economy Club will be held tonight in the Grill Room of the McGill Union when David Coore, Fourth year honours student in economics, will address the group on "The Theory of Planning in a Socialist State."

The meeting will be open to both members and non-members of the club and several members of the faculty will be in attendance. After the address, the floor will be thrown open for discussion of the problem.

Mr. Coore has done some research on the subject and is well qualified to speak to the gathering on this vital topic. The Executive have pointed out that this will be an excellent opportunity for all those newcomers to the campus to join the group.

VETERANS' SOCIETY

The McGill Student Veterans' Society is sponsoring a "Vets Do"

Friday, Jan. 25, from 5 to 8 p.m. in the Officers' Mess of the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium. Admission is 25c, and the party is stag or drag. A juke box will supply music for dancing, and refreshments will be available.

SNO-DAWSON

There will be a meeting of the Sno-Dawson Ski Club at 7 p.m. tonight in Dawson Theatre. It is especially urged that all who want to race this season attend, so that the zone cards can be arranged for.

N.F.C.U.S.

A meeting of students, that participated in the McGill pre-conference committees of the N.F.C.U.S., will be held in the Players Club Room at 1 p.m. on Saturday, January 26. The formation of a local N.F.C.U.S. will be discussed, and all students are invited to attend.

The meeting will be chaired by Mel Shiffman who was the Vice-Chairman of the McGill pre-conference committees, and the former Engineering Representative to the Students' Executive Council.

A letter from some members of the University Band was read and further action on the part of the Council planned to ascertain the difficulties encountered by that organization. The band, it will be remembered, did not play at last week's hockey game vs. the University of Montreal.

A primary discussion on the past N.F.C.U.S. conference was held, based on the recently completed report of the conference proceedings. Further discussion was scheduled for the next meeting when McGill's delegate to the conference, Jack Pye will be asked to attend the Council meeting.

Students' Society Meeting

It was also decided, that owing to the recently proposed amendment to the Students' Society proposed by the Engineering Undergraduate Society, the general meeting of the Students' Society will be held on Thursday, Feb. 7 instead of the original date, Tuesday, Feb. 5. The change was necessitated, because the constitution requires at least two weeks notice to be given before any amendments can be considered at a Students' Society general meeting.

Boys' if condemned at Nuremberg. What justice has been shown towards the families of the murdered Canadian soldiers? We are not asking that the decisions of the court be ignored, as implied by P. D. Barrett in writing that "a constituted judiciary authority has legally determined otherwise." On the contrary we ask that the decisions of the "constituted judiciary authority"—viz. the court martial, be carried out.

I personally challenge these Honorable gentlemen who are so prone and vociferous to see that justice be given to S.S. Gen. Kurt Meyer.

VETERANS

COST OF LIVING QUESTIONNAIRE

Two hundred veterans, whose names are listed below, have been chosen to answer a D.V.A. cost of living questionnaire prepared by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, in Moyses Hall on Thursday, January 24 at 5.00 p.m. These veterans who are listed and who have lectures at the stated time will be officially excused from attending the lecture.

The questionnaire is divided into three sections: Basic Living Expenditures, which deals with food and lodging expenses; Special Monthly Expenditures, searching for information about the cost of recreation, laundry, street car and bus transportation, tobacco, candy, etc.; and Annual Expenditures, asking questions on rail or bus transportation, text books, clothing, insurance, medical and dental, etc.

The veterans, listed below are requested to get in touch with Miss Orr, in the Registrar's Office.

had to pay not only all other expenses, but transportation as well (with the exception of room—thanks to St. Mike).

True, expenses did not amount to such an exorbitant sum, but I for one am a Vet and find it hard enough to get by on $60. a month under ordinary circumstances. I also have, or did have, a little college spirit prior to this incident, but if this is an example of the way the Students' Council expects to treat the Band—you can have it—the school spirit and all that goes with it.

So, until such time as the Band is given a fair break, is recognized, respected and more co-operation given to it, rather than using it as a tool to be summoned at the will of the Students' Council, I, for one, don't think you'll ever have a band you can be proud of—a very poor show for an institution with the reputation McGill possesses everywhere—and I will remain,

A BANDSMAN OUT OF TUNE.
